A. Choose the words or expressions and complete the passage:

When I was fifteen I went to a summer camp. There were lots of great activities but there was one thing I was really scared (害怕) about: climbing the wall.

The wall is a kind of rock that people use to learn how to climb. It is very tall. We were all supposed to climb the wall, but I knew I couldn't get to the top because I am heights.

I was ashamed and I didn't want anyone to know that I was scared. I thought they would all laugh at me. I practiced my excuse: "I'm not scared, you know. I suffer from vertigo (患眩晕症)."
The day came. It was time to climb the wall. The sun was shining but everyone was very quiet that morning. I took photographs at the bottom of the wall and tried to2 . Everyone in the group went up. Then the moment came. It was my turn. I was so scared that all I could think about was my excuse. Someone said, "Shall I take your camera?" and I answered, "I'm not scared, you know. I suffer from vertigo." The3 was that I was more than scared, I was terrified (吓坏了). The camp leader said, "Don't worry, you don't have to do anything you don't want to do." I was surprised. Everyone was understanding. No one 4 .
The next day, the leader asked me if I wanted to try the wall on my own,5 the others watching. Although I was still very nervous ,I agreed and climbed slowly to the top with his help. I was still shaking when I came6, but I was really happy and relieved too. For me, climbing the wall was a real achievement.

A. Reading Comprehension

At 2:30 p.m on December 5, 1945, five US Navy (海军) training planes took off in clear weather from the base Lauderdale, Florida. The planes flew east over the coast--- and disappeared. The group was Flight 19, on a run between Florida and Bahamas. Taylor was the group leader. At about 3:40, Taylor reported that his compasses (指南针) were not reading properly. The other planes followed their leader aimlessly, flies east, then west, then northeast over the ocean, as Taylor tried to make sure of the direction by radio. Then, suddenly Taylor was heard to give orders to dive.

Quickly, two giant (very large) Martin seaplanes were sent up to search for Flight 19. Several hours later, the wind became strong and visibility(能见度)dropped. A return to base was ordered. But only one of the Martin seaplanes landed. Four days later, the Navy and Coast(海岸部队)combed a 100,000 square-mile area with more than 100 planes and ships. No sign was ever shown of the missing planes.

Today, people have noted the disappearance of many ships and planes in the southwest part of the North Atlantic and began to call this area the Bermuda Triangle(百慕大三角).

The points of the triangle are Bermuda, Puerto Rico(波多黎各) and a spot in the Gulf of Mexico(墨西哥湾), west of Florida. It is a two - faced water world of tiny island, bright beaches and beautiful waters. Yet thick fogs, powerful currents(急流)and sudden storms are hidden behind this smiling surface.

В

I once believed that a friend is a friend all the way. Now I have changed my ideas about friendships.

Friends of convenience

They can be the people who live next door or the mothers of our children's closest friends.

Friends of convenience are convenient i1...They'll help us when we need it. They'll look after our cats when we go on holidays. But we don't ever get too close or tell too much. We keep our public face and emotional distance. That m 2 we'll talk about being overweight but not about being sad or disappointed. However, people still feel these friendships valuable to them.

Special-interest friends

These friendships aren't deeply personal or emotional. Their value is that they can $\frac{s}{s}$ interest, so we may have an office friend, a tennis friend, or even a shopping friend.

Historical friends

We all have a friend who knew us when ... maybe we were back in the second grade of primary school, when our family lived in that two-room flat downtown. He or she was the first, the only friend we told our s 4 to.

The years have gone by, and we have gone different ways. We have $\underline{15}$ in common now, but we're still a personal part of each other's past. We know how we looked before our teeth were straightened, and our getting together reminds us of an earlier part of ourselves, which is important and $\underline{n6}$ lost.

Cross-generational friends

These are friendships that form across generations. I have in my own life a p 7 friend, a woman of 65, who is wise, who listens well, and who represents not only an ideal mother to me but also the person I'd like to be when I grow up.

Best friends, I believe, totally trust, support and love each other.

I left the main road as soon as possible and tried a smaller one. It was not easy without a map, and I realized that I had been so s___3__ to steal the car. It would help the police to find me in any corner of Scotland. If I left it, and went off on foot, they would find me in an hour or two.

I was very hungry; I had eaten n_4_ since morning. And now, as I drove, I heard a noise in the sky, and there was a plane. I drove as fast as I could down into another town. Suddenly, a car appeared in front of me from a s_5_ road. There was no time to stop. I did the only thing possible and drove off the road into a fence, hoping to hit something soft beyond. But I was out of good I_6_. The car went through the fence like a knife through butter, and immediately began to fall. I jumped out and was caught by the branch of a tree, while the car disappeared into a river fifteen meters below.

A hand helped me out of the tree, and a frightened voice asked me if I was badly hurt. The speaker was a young man who was very sorry. I was more p_7___ than angry; it was a good way for the car to disappear.

The history of the Forbidden City began in the 15th century and it was built as the palace of the Ming emperors of China. It is in the center of Beijing, China. It was the Chinese imperial palace from the mid-Ming Dynasty to the end of Qing Dynasty in 1912.

Ancient Chinese people displayed their very great skills in building the Forbidden City. Take the grand red city wall for example. It is 8.6 meters wide at the base and 6.66 meters wide at the top. The angular(有尖角的) shape of the wall makes it impossible for people to climb it. But some are broken because of the rain.

Now the Palace Museum is responsible for the protection and restoration of the Forbidden City. Building heights around the Forbidden City are limited. In 2005, a sixteen-year restoration project was started to repair all the buildings in the Forbidden City. This is the largest restoration of the Forbidden City undertaken in two centuries. Also as part of the project, some destroyed sections are being rebuilt. The gardens of the Palace of Establishing Prosperity, destroyed by the fire in 1923, were rebuilt in 2005, but remain closed to the public.

The past continuous tense

You use the past continuous tense to show that an action continued for a period of time in the past.

We were watching television from seven to nine o'clock last night. Michael was doing his homework when the telephone rang.

You can also use the past continuous tense to describe a scene in the past, for example, to describe a photograph.

This is a photograph of my sister and me last Lunar New Year. We were standing in a big crowd and watching the fireworks.

THE FORM OF THE PAST CONTINUOUS TENSE

You form the past continuous tense with the past tense of the verb be (was or were) + present participle of the verb (the -ing form).

Positive and negative statements

I/he/she/it	was
	was not/wasn't	waiting same time. After many discussions, the two boys decided to toss (抛) a coin. The 2 would go down into the mines (煤矿) and, with his money, support his brother studying at the college. Then, when the brother 3 won the toss finished his studies, after four years, he would support the other brother studying at the college.

James won the toss and Jack went down into the mines. James worked with all his heart and his paintings were much 4 than those of most of his teachers, and by the time he graduated, he was beginning to make a lot of money out of his paintings.

When James returned, the family held a big dinner for his great success. Soon after the meal began, James stood up from his seat to drink a toast (举杯祝酒) to his dear ____5__. He said, "Jack, now you can go to the art college and your dream will come true. I will take care of you."

But Jack said softly, "Brother, the four years in the mines has done too much to my hands, so it's too 6. Now I can't even hold a glass."

To show his great love and respect, James drew his brother's hands with fingers towards the sky. He called his drawing The Praying Hands, which became very famous years later.

When he was a schoolboy, Adrian Hayes read some stories about the polar (极的) explorers. Now he has taken himself to three of the most deserted places on Earth: the North Pole, the South Pole and the top of Mount Everest(珠穆朗玛峰). He is the 15th p_1__ to do so— and the fastest so far, taking 19 months.

First he went to Mount Everest. He r_2 the top on May 25th, 2006. Then in early 2007 Mr Hayes left his home for the second and most d_3 of the three expeditions (探险)—the journey to the North Pole. It took 50 days for him and two friends to walk 482 miles in temperatures as l_4 as -60° C.

For most, that journey alone would be enough. However, Mr Hayes had one more to complete. On November 12th, he set out as part of a t_5_ of five and walked 702 miles to the South Pole.

Just before reaching the South Pole, he said, "Most explorers have taken several years to have completed the challenge, but I am very I 6 to have been able to do it within 19 months."

Mr Hayes said he had mixed emotions about ending his journey. "There is a little bit of sadness," he added. "You become used to the environment and get into a routine (常规). H 7__, it is exciting to near the end of what has been a difficult task."

Everyone likes living in a clean and comfortable environment. If the environment is bad, it will affect our body, and make us not feel well. Sometimes we may be terribly ill. At that time we don't want to work, and we have to stay in bed and rest at home. So the environment is very important to us.

It's germs that make us ill. There are germs everywhere, They are very small and you can't find them with your own eyes, but you can see them with a microscope. They are very small and there may be hundreds of them on a very small thing, Germs can always be found in dirty water. When we look at dirty water under the microscope, we shall see them in it. Germs can also be found in air and dust(灰尘). If you cut your finger, some of the dust from the floor may go into it, and you will have much pain in it. Sometimes the germs will go into all of your boby, and you will have pain everywhere.

They have designed "spaceflats" that are only 30 square meters in2 These flats have small rooms: a living room, a bathroom and a bedroom, as well as a balcony (阳 \dot{e}), but everything is3 planned to make good use of the limited space. The living room is the main room of the flat. It can be used as an office, a kitcher even a second bedroom. There is a sofa that can be changed into a bed. The dining table can be changed into a computer desk. And, if not needed, both the sofa-bed and the table can be folded away and stored into a small space in the wall. There is a flat-screen TV, which can also serve as a computer monitor . In one of the room, a small cooker, a microwave oven and a small refrigerator are4_ out of sight.
The other rooms are small but practical (实用). The bathroom contains a toilet and a shower. The double bed in the bedroom can also be a sofa, if5 The balcony has enough room for two people to sit and enjoy the view from the block of flats. All the rooms have high ceiling to provide as much storage space as possible, while the flat has large windows to let in

I used to live in Kobe in Japan. On my way home on the bus every evening I used to look for an old man who often played his saxophone (萨克斯管) near the river. I couldn't hear his music because the windows were closed on the bus but I imagined it to be loud and clear. I wanted to be like that man.

One night I went to Himeji, a city not far from Kobe. As I walked with my family along the river I saw a statue. It was a young man who looked just like me. He was wearing a cap and smiling. Around his neck was a leather strap and in his hands was a saxophone. He was lifting the saxophone to his lips and he was just about to play. I stayed there for a long time by the statue dreaming of playing a saxophone on TV.

Two weeks later it was my birthday. Imagine my joy when I opened my present from my parents and found that it was a saxophone! I put it to my lips to play, but it wouldn't make a sound. Then Dad told me to read the instruction book to find out what to do. After about 15 minutes the saxophone was ready to play. I raised it slowly to my lips as my family watched. But still there was no sound. I blew and blew but I couldn't get the saxophone to play. I was almost crying when suddenly the saxophone made the most beautiful sound—loud and clear like I imagined the music of the man by the river in Kobe. I blew again, I moved my fingers on the saxophone and I made more sounds. I was happy because I was playing very interesting sounds. But I wasn't playing music yet.

Then came the lessons. Night after night, week after week my teacher made me practise. Slowly I started to improve and at last there came the magic day when I started to play music. Now I'm in the TV studio with my saxophone strapped to my neck and my cap on my head. I'm always thinking of the man by the river in Kobe and the statue smiling at me in Himeiji. I'm a happy man.
